Epilepsy is a condition characterised by a tendency to have recurring spontaneous seizures. Research conducted by Epilepsy Ireland has found that there are 37,000 people over the age of 5 living with epilepsy in Ireland.

EPILEPSY IRELAND

was established in 1966;

- To help and support people with epilepsy, their families and friends;
- To improve public understanding of epilepsy and eliminate prejudice and misunderstanding about it;
- To encourage and assist research into the causes and treatment of epilepsy;
- To promote legislative and civil rights for people with epilepsy and to for the condition of epilepsy;

EPILEPSY IRELAND OFFICES NATIONWIDE

Epilepsy Ireland provide a nationwide and professional information service to support and empower people with epilepsy and their families, who may have problems coming to terms with the condition and its implications for them. Regional Community Resource Officers provide support groups and outreach services in the community.

EDUCATION AND INFORMATION

Epilepsy Ireland provides a wide range of information resources about epilepsy and organises regular meetings, talks and seminars on different aspects of the condition. An Epilepsy Newsletter is provided for members of Epilepsy Ireland to keep them up to date on developments in the field of epilepsy and on the work of the association. Epilepsy Ireland also acts as an advocate for the interests of people with epilepsy on specific legal and welfare issues, which affect them as a group.

TRAINING & EMPLOYMENT

Epilepsy Ireland provides support and information on all aspects of training and employment for people with epilepsy. With funding from FÁS, the association organises a 1-year pre-employment training programme at the IT Sligo for young people with epilepsy, to help them make up for whatever difficulties they may have experienced as a result of developing epilepsy, and to assist them to progress to further training and employment. A separate leaflet on this course entitled "Training for Success" is available.

RESEARCH

Epilepsy Ireland actively encourages epilepsy research in Ireland and provides support for research into the causes and treatment of epilepsy and its social and education implications.
